Log into your Twitch account. Q: React.js webapp, displaying key - value pair in element I have a react app. For each of the items in my prop 'selectedText' the user will have the option to select an 'author' (a key in an array). 'Authors' is an array of 'authors' which are key-value pairs for a list of authors. AuthorList = React.createClass({ getInitialState: function() { return { selectedAuthor: this.props.selectedText } }, AUTHORLIST: { "a": "author 1", "b": "author 2", "c": "author 3" }, checkForAuthors: function(name) { var authors = this.AUTHORLIST[name]; if(authors) { return authors; } else { return false; } }, render: function() { var authList = this.checkForAuthors(this.props.selectedText) var authListItems = authList.map(function(author){ return({author}) }); return (Selected author: {this.props.selectedText} {authListItems}) } This is working
